

Translation.

The Arab Republic of Egypt
House of Representatives
Secretary-General

To: Justice Adel Maged,
Vice President of the Court of Cassation

Dear Honourable Justice Maged,

It gave us great honour and pleasure and made us deeply proud to have learned that you were selected to contribute to the anthology Integrity in International Justice with your valued study on which you addressed the rich provisions and rules of Islamic Shari'a on justice and qualifications required of judges.

It goes without saying that you have been rightly selected to do this invaluable job. You have a rich record of input in the sacred field of justice and equity. In addition, you are an excellent example of Egyptian judges who have always been pioneers in normative work and in promoting the rule of law, thereby providing a wealth of judgments that set unique principles which establish a great deal of values of freedom and justice, and champion integrity and transparency. Moreover, you have been a mentor to an elect of Egyptian judges who justly adjudicate on peoples' disputes.

May God Almighty grant you every success in your endeavours and help you in fulfilling your sacred mandate.

Yours sincerely,

Justice Mahmoud Fawzy
Secretary-General