

TABLE OF CONTENTS

Foreword by the Series Editor	i
Preface by the Editors of the Volume	iii
Foreword by Piotr Hofmański	v
Foreword by Mama Koité Doumbia	vii
1. The International Criminal Court: Between Continuity and Renewal	1
By Viviane E. Dittrich
1.1. Introduction	1
1.2. The International Criminal Court: Context, Constraints and Complexities	3
1.2.1. Commitment and Contestation	3
1.2.2. Continuity and Renewal	7
1.2.3. Permanence and Impermanence	12
1.3. Twentieth Anniversary of the Rome Statute	18
1.4. Focus and Structure of the Book	27
2. Attacked, Applauded, Threatened, Universalized. Or: A Wednesday at the International Criminal Court	39
By Alexander Heinze
2.1. Introduction	39
2.2. Interjection: Why This Chapter Includes References to Literature and How This Has Become Worth Mentioning	40
2.3. The Nuremberg Forum 2018 – A Reflection on the Presentations with the Benefit of Hindsight	43
2.3.1. The Integrity of International Criminal Justice	44
2.3.2. Protection of Human Dignity and a Cosmopolitan Vision	46
2.3.3. The Prosecutor’s Critical Analysis at the Forum and Her Track Record Since Then	47
2.3.4. The Making of the Rome Statute	59
2.3.5. Case Selection	64
2.3.6. The Length of Proceedings	68
2.3.7. Victim Participation and Reparations	80

2.3.8.	The Exercise of Jurisdiction and Complementarity Within the ICC Statute.....	83
2.3.9.	State Engagement and Disengagement.....	89
2.3.10.	Quo Vadis , ICC? The ICC Within the Next Twenty Years.....	96
2.3.11.	Achievements and Challenges – The Court’s Kantian Ideal and (Neo-)Grotian Tradition.....	107

PART I:

STOCKTAKING: LOOKING BACK AND LOOKING AHEAD

3.	Is Power or Reason the Way to Peace?	113
	By Benjamin B. Ferencz
4.	Justice without Fear or Favour? The Uncertain Future of the International Criminal Court.....	121
	By Leila Nadya Sadat
4.1.	Introduction	121
4.2.	The Road to Rome.....	122
4.2.1.	Historical Development	122
4.2.2.	The Nuremberg Precedent and Principles.....	123
4.2.3.	The Tokyo Trial.....	124
4.2.4.	The United Nations’ Efforts to Establish the Court	125
4.3.	The Rome Diplomatic Conference of Plenipotentiaries	128
4.3.1.	Negotiations at the Rome Conference	128
4.3.2.	Voting on the Statute and Its Final Adoption	129
4.4.	The Organizational Structure and Operational Features of the Court.....	130
4.4.1.	Jurisdiction and Admissibility	131
4.4.2.	Preconditions on the Exercise of the Court’s Jurisdiction.....	133
4.4.3.	Admissibility.....	135
4.4.4.	Immunities	139
4.4.5.	Organizational Structure	145
4.4.6.	The Office of the Prosecutor.....	148
4.4.7.	The Court’s Registry	149
4.5.	The Court’s Current Caseload	149
4.6.	Challenges and Future Prospects.....	150
4.6.1.	The ICC and the United States	150
4.6.2.	The ICC and Africa.....	152
4.6.3.	The Challenge of Universality.....	152

4.6.4.	Procedural, Organizational and Financial Challenges .	153
4.6.5.	The Shadow of the Court: Victim and Perpetrator Responses	154
4.6.6.	Additional Transitional Justice Modalities	154
4.6.7.	Enhancing Positive Complementarity by Continuing to Build National and Regional Infrastructure for the Prosecution of International Crimes	155
4.7.	Conclusion	156
5.	The Way Forward for the International Criminal Court and Its Stakeholders: Focus Inward.....	159
	By Christopher R.F. Hale
5.1.	Introduction: The Quandary	159
5.2.	Practical Impact of the Quandary	165
5.2.1.	Juxtaposition on Display in 2018	165
5.2.2.	A Change in 2020–2021?.....	167
5.2.3.	Time to Look Inward	173
5.3.	Inward Looking Recommendations.....	176
5.3.1.	Prioritize Arrest of Fugitives	178
5.3.2.	Build a Culture of Professional and Institutional Development.....	191
5.3.3.	Forge Long-Term Budget Resolution	202
5.4.	Conclusion	216
6.	The Relevance of the Nuremberg Principles as a Source of Law for Decision Making of Subsequent International Criminal Judiciary	219
	By Katarína Šmigová
6.1.	Introduction: Historical Context of the Nuremberg Trial and the Subsequent Development of International Criminal Law ..	219
6.2.	The Nuremberg Principles Adopted by the United Nations International Law Commission and their Status.....	224
6.3.	The Nuremberg Principles in the Statutes and Case Law of the Ad Hoc Tribunals.....	226
6.4.	The Nuremberg Principles in the Rome Statute and the Case Law of the International Criminal Court	231
6.5.	Conclusion.....	236

PART II:
CONTEXT AND CONSTRAINTS

SECTION A:
PROSECUTORIAL POLICY AND PRACTICE

7.	Prosecuting ‘The Most Responsible’: The Law and Politics of the Expectation and Strategy	241
	By Fannie Lafontaine and Claire Magnoux
7.1.	Introduction	241
7.1.1.	‘The Most Responsible’ as a Core Foundation of the International Criminal Justice Project.....	241
7.1.2.	‘The Most Responsible’ as a Multi-Layered Component of the ICC.....	242
7.1.3.	‘The Most Responsible’ as a Pillar of Prosecutorial Strategies.....	244
7.2.	‘The Most Responsible’: Building the Credibility of the Office of the Prosecutor.....	247
7.2.1.	Building the Concept Over Time in Prosecution Policies: An Economic Multi-Task Tool.....	247
7.2.2.	Objectives of Prosecutions: Greater Responsibility, Greater Expectations?	253
7.2.3.	Overcoming the Obstacles to Prosecuting Those Who Bear the Greatest Responsibility: A Shift in Symbolic Value from the Perpetrators to the Crimes?	255
7.3.	Individuals Bearing the Greatest Responsibility and the Criteria of Gravity and Interests of Justice: An Unsteady Jurisprudence	260
7.3.1.	Perpetrators and Gravity: Chaotic Jurisprudence	260
7.3.2.	‘The Most Responsible’, Gravity and Interests of Justice: Between Dialogue of the Deaf and Lack of Dialogue.....	265
7.4.	Conclusion.....	275
8.	The Use of Non-Governmental Investigatory Bodies at the Office of the Prosecutor of the International Criminal Court: An Offer We Can(not) Refuse?	279
	By André C.U. Nwadiakwa-Jonathan and Nicholas E. Ortiz
8.1.	Introduction: A Long Way from Rome	279

8.2.	Searching for the Critical Component: State Co-operation and the Conduct of Investigations at the Office of the Prosecutor.....	284
8.2.1.	The Evidence Speaks for Itself: Negative Evidential Outcomes at the Office of the Prosecutor as Investigative Quality Indicators	284
8.2.2.	A Problem Shared: Negative Evidential Outcomes as a Consequence of Prosecutorial Strategy or State Co-operation?	287
8.2.3.	The ICC’s Achilles’ Heel: The Republic of Kenya as a Case Study of the Contributory Effect of State Co-operation on Negative Evidential Outcomes	294
8.2.4.	Conclusions: Impact on the Investigative Process and the Need to Address the State Co-operation Deficit	297
8.3.	The Commission for International Justice and Accountability: The Archetypal Non-Governmental Investigatory Body	297
8.3.1.	Non-Governmental Investigatory Bodies: Classification and Characteristics.....	297
8.3.2.	The Non-Governmental Investigatory Body Model: The Commission for International Justice and Accountability as a Case Study	299
8.3.3.	Negative Evidential Outcomes and the Non-Governmental Investigatory Body Model: Filling the Accountability Gap?.....	306
8.4.	Terra Incognita: Exploring the Modalities of a Framework for Co-operation between Non-Governmental Investigatory Bodies and the Office of the Prosecutor	312
8.4.1.	Gateways for Co-operation in the Rome Statute System: Squaring the Circle?.....	312
8.5.	Conclusion: An Offer We Cannot Refuse?	320

SECTION B:

JURISDICTION AND ADMISSIBILITY:

NORMATIVE CONSIDERATIONS AND PROSECUTORIAL DISCRETION

9.	General Assembly Referral to the International Criminal Court	325
	By Fergal Gaynor
9.1.	Introduction	325

9.2.	The Necessity for Change: The Inadequacy of the Security Council’s Referral Function.....	328
9.3.	Responses to Security Council Inaction	330
9.4.	The General Assembly’s Power to Refer a Situation to the ICC.....	333
9.5.	The Presumption of Legality of Action by the General Assembly.....	340
9.6.	The Purposive Interpretation of the Charter which Underlies the Security Council’s Powers in International Criminal Justice	342
9.7.	The Obligation of All States to Deter, Investigate and Prosecute Genocide, War Crimes and Crimes Against Humanity.....	346
9.8.	The Exercise of Jurisdiction Over Nationals of a Non-Party: Practical Difficulties	350
9.9.	The Existence of Chapter VII Remedies and the Success of a Prosecution.....	351
9.10.	Guards Against Unmeritorious Referrals by the General Assembly.....	354
9.11.	Conclusion.....	356
10.	The Complementary Global Regimes Working for Peace and Justice and the Pursuit of Universal Jurisdiction	359
	By Andrea Marrone
10.1.	Introduction	359
10.2.	The Initiatives to Restrain the Veto Powers of the United Nations Security Council.....	361
10.3.	The Current Issues Pursuing Civilian Protection Duties	364
10.4.	The Complementary Global Regimes Fostering Peace and Justice.....	366
10.5.	The Concept of Complementarity and the Dilemma of Human Security.....	370
10.6.	The Interaction Strategies between Complementary Global Regimes	373
10.7.	Conclusion.....	376
11.	Complementarity and Due Process as a Question of Admissibility: From Fighting Impunity to Seeking Justice?	381
	By Anderson Javiel Dirocie De León
11.1.	Introduction	381
11.2.	Revisiting the Principle of Complementarity	382

11.3.	Due Process Considerations when Assessing Complementarity	391
11.3.1.	Due Process Thesis	396
11.3.2.	Genuine Search of Justice Approach	398
11.3.3.	Modified Due Process Thesis	401
11.3.4.	Qualified Due Process Thesis	403
11.4.	Procedural Implications: Challenging Inadmissibility?.....	404
11.5.	Conclusion	406
12.	The Dynamics of Complementarity and Preliminary Examinations ...	409
	By Adedeji Adekunle
12.1.	Introduction	409
12.2.	What Objectives Are Served by the Preliminary Examinations?	413
12.3.	Prosecutorial Discretion and Preliminary Examination	418
12.4.	The Office of the Prosecutor’s Discretion and Positive Complementarity.....	427
12.4.1.	Situation in the Islamic Republic of Afghanistan	427
12.4.2.	Situation in Kenya	429
12.4.3.	Situation in Nigeria.....	431
12.4.4.	Addressing the Length of Preliminary Examinations..	433
12.5.	Conclusion.....	435

SECTION C:
VICTIMS AND WITNESSES

13.	Trauma in the Witness Stand: Effective Evaluation of Trauma-Impacted Testimony at the International Criminal Court...	439
	By Ellie Smith
13.1.	Introduction	439
13.1.1.	Definitions	442
13.2.	Background: Trauma-Impacted Evidence at the Ad Hoc Tribunals	443
13.3.	Trauma and the Assessment of Testimony at the ICC	447
13.4.	Discussion	450
13.5.	Finding a Way Forward? Expert Evidence in the Ntaganda Trial.....	452
13.6.	Conclusion.....	458

14. Five Categories of Victims and the Consequences on the International Criminal Court.....	461
By Christoph Safferling and Gurgun Petrossian
14.1. Introduction	461
14.2. Victims Under Broad and Narrow Approaches	465
14.2.1. Direct Victimhood.....	468
14.2.2. Indirect Victimhood	469
14.3. Individual Victimhood at the ICC Trial Stages.....	472
14.3.1. Potential Victims.....	474
14.3.2. Situation Victims.....	476
14.3.3. Victims Unrelated to the Charges	479
14.3.4. Case Victims	481
14.3.5. Victims of Specific Charges.....	482
14.4. Conclusion	483
15. Judicial Protective Measures for Victims and Witnesses vis-à-vis External Actors at the International Criminal Court.....	487
By Juan Pablo Pérez-León-Acevedo
15.1. Introduction	487
15.2. General Framework	490
15.3. Protective Measures.....	494
15.3.1. Elements and Requirements.....	494
15.3.2. Examples of Protective Measures	498
15.4. Special Measures	508
15.4.1. Normative Framework and Practice	508
15.4.2. Special Measures for Victims and Witnesses of Sexual Violence	516
15.5. Conclusions	522
16. The Development of Witness Evidence Law at the International Criminal Court	525
By Hilde Farthofer
16.1. Introduction	525
16.2. Testimonial Evidence.....	527
16.2.1. Questioning a Witness	529
16.2.2. Different Types of Witnesses	536
16.3. The Duty of the Witness	543
16.4. The Rights of the Witness.....	544
16.4.1. Privileges	544
16.4.2. Witness Protection	548

16.5. Conclusion.....	550
-----------------------	-----

SECTION D:
DEFENCE ISSUES:
PROCEDURAL AND INSTITUTIONAL PERSPECTIVES

17. Length of Proceedings at the International Criminal Court: Context, Latest Developments and Proposed Steps to Address the Issue	553
By Benjamin Gumpert and Yulia Nuzban
17.1. Introduction	553
17.2. Criteria for Determining if the Length of Proceedings Is Reasonable.....	554
17.3. Overview of the Length of the ICC Proceedings.....	559
17.4. Factors that Affect the Length of the ICC Proceedings.....	563
17.4.1. Timing, Nature, Scope and Geographic Location of Crimes	563
17.4.2. Judicial Oversight of Prosecutorial Activities	564
17.4.3. Participation of Victims	568
17.4.4. Rights of the Accused	569
17.4.5. Transcription, Translation and Interpretation	569
17.4.6. Disclosure of Evidence	571
17.4.7. Witness and Staff Protection.....	572
17.4.8. International Co-operation.....	573
17.4.9. Background of ICC Staff.....	574
17.5. The Latest Developments Relating to the Length of the ICC Proceedings.....	575
17.5.1. Study and Working Groups.....	576
17.5.2. Reports on the Development of Performance Indicators	577
17.5.3. ICC Presidency 2015–2018	578
17.5.4. Chambers Practice Manual	578
17.5.5. Amendments to the Regulations of the Court.....	579
17.5.6. Strategic Plan 2019–2021	579
17.6. Proposed Steps to Address the Issue.....	580
17.6.1. Streamlining Judicial Proceedings.....	581
17.6.2. Eliminating Inefficiencies and Redundancies.....	583
17.6.3. Ensuring Speedier Judicial Decision-Making.....	585
17.7. Conclusions	586

18. Founding an International Criminal Court Bar	589
By Philippe Currat and Brice Van Erps
18.1. Introduction	589
18.2. The Past of the ICC: No Bar Expected	589
18.2.1. The Tools Available Ab Initio	589
18.2.2. The Attempt of the International Criminal Bar	594
18.2.3. A Solution Emerges	597
18.3. The Present of the ICC: A Bar Achieved	604
18.4. The Future of the ICC: A Bar Improving the Legitimacy of the Court	610
18.5. Conclusion	612

SECTION E:
LEGITIMACY AND INDEPENDENCE

19. Cultivating the Court’s Legitimacy and the Use of Constructivism to Prepare for Head of State Aggression Prosecutions.....	617
By Cara Cunningham Warren
19.1. Introduction	617
19.2. Input Legitimacy Challenges	620
19.2.1. Input and Consent Challenge: Ratification and Acceptance Stalemate Regarding the Kampala Amendments	621
19.2.2. Input and Consent Challenge: Developing Complementarity Norms.....	626
19.3. Legitimacy Challenges Related to Efficacy and Compliance...	632
19.4. A Prosecutorial Framework and Constructivist Methodology to Address Legitimacy Gaps	636
19.4.1. Substance: A Normative Framework Focused on Admissibility and the Interests of Justice.....	636
19.4.2. Methodology: A Shift Toward Constructivism	641
19.5. Conclusion	646
20. Defining Situations at the International Criminal Court	649
By Nicolai von Maltitz and Thomas Körner
20.1. Introduction	649
20.2. Defining the Term ‘Situation’ in the Rome Statute.....	650
20.2.1. The Jurisdictional Regime of the ICC	650
20.2.2. The Term ‘Situation’ as a Gatekeeper of ICC Investigations	653

20.2.3. Defining the Term ‘Situation’ – Merging Procedure and Substance	667
20.2.4. Consequences of the Procedural Approach to the Term ‘Situation’	676
20.3. Conclusions	677
21. Politics and the Institutional Integrity of the International Criminal Court	679
By Shannon Fyfe
21.1. Introduction	679
21.2. Integrity	680
21.2.1. Individual Integrity	681
21.2.2. Institutional Integrity	685
21.3. Politics as a Threat to Integrity	689
21.4. Integrity of the ICC and its Organs.....	694
21.4.1. Integrity at the Court.....	695
21.4.2. The Judiciary	696
21.4.3. The Office of the Prosecutor.....	707
21.5. Conclusion: The Future of the Integrity of the Court	710

PART III:

ACHIEVEMENTS AND LEGACY:

REFLECTIONS ON THE TWENTIETH ANNIVERSARY OF THE ROME STATUTE

22. Quo vadis , International Criminal Court? The European Union’s Role and Responsibility to Support the Court in Good Times and in Bad Times	713
By Barbara Lochbihler
22.1. Introduction	713
22.2. The European Union’s Instruments for Political, Institutional and Financial Support.....	714
22.3. Instruments of Parliamentary Support.....	716
22.3.1. Parliament Resolutions	717
22.3.2. Activities at the Committee Level	718
22.3.3. Commitment by Members of Parliament.....	719
22.4. Key Aspects of the European Union’s Policy on the ICC and International Criminal Justice.....	720
22.4.1. Widest Possible Ratification.....	720
22.4.2. Complementarity, Accountability and Its Limits	723
22.5. Challenges Ahead	727
22.5.1. Internal Challenges: The ICC’s Performance	727

22.5.2. External Challenges: Human Rights and International Justice Under Fire.....	728
22.6. Conclusion.....	731
23. Russia and the International Criminal Court: From Uncertain Engagement to Positive Disengagement.....	733
By Bakhtiyar Tuzmukhamedov
23.1. Introduction	733
23.2. Expectations of Engagement	735
23.3. From Expectations to Foreboding	738
23.4. Formal Disengagement.....	739
23.5. Concluding Observation: Shades of Disengagement.....	742
24. Speech by Foreign Minister Heiko Maas at the Nuremberg Forum 2018 Marking the Twentieth Anniversary of the Rome Statute.....	747
By Heiko Maas
25. Speech by Prosecutor Fatou Bensouda at the Nuremberg Forum 2018 Marking the Twentieth Anniversary of the Rome Statute.....	751
By Fatou Bensouda
25.1. The Rome Statute Has Set the Course and the ICC Is Moving Ahead	751
25.2. The International Criminal Justice Project Is a Child of War ...	752
25.3. Stocktaking – Challenges and Setbacks	752
25.4. Stocktaking – The Office of the Prosecutor as the Engine of the ICC	753
25.5. States Parties Must Voice Greater Support and Condemn Attacks on the Court	756
25.6. States Parties Must Actively Co-operate with the Court	757
25.7. Conclusion.....	758
26. The Twentieth Anniversary of the Rome Statute of the International Criminal Court.....	759
By Bertram Schmitt
26.1. Introduction	759
26.2. Achievements	760
26.2.1. The Participation of Victims	761
26.2.2. A Rule of Law Process to Establish the Truth	762
26.3. Challenges	763
26.3.1. Not a Comfort Zone.....	763
26.3.2. Selectivity of Justice	764

26.3.3. Length of Proceedings	765
26.4. The Court Between Law and Politics	766
26.4.1. The Power and the Will to Stay the Course	767
Index	769
TOAEP Team	781
Other Volumes in the Nuremberg Academy Series	783